

The Maryland Writing Project at Towson University

2011 - 2012 Maryland Writing Project Write-to-Learn Saturday Workshops

ALL SESSIONS ARE APPLICABLE ACROSS
THE GRADE LEVELS and CONTENT AREAS.

When? Saturdays:
9:00 - 9:30 am – registration.
Workshops 9:30 – 10:45
11 AM - 12 noon

Who? Maryland teachers, new and experienced.

What? Workshops conducted by Maryland Writing Project Teacher-Consultants

Where? Towson University, Hawkins Hall, Room 110.

Cost? Workshops are free, but we ask that you register ahead of time.

Coffee and breakfast goodies are provided. Come and BRING A FRIEND!

Fall Sessions:

October 22

Digital Storytelling: Writing for the 21st Century

- Gwen Creel-Erickson, Hampstead Hill Elementary School

Building a Firm Foundation for Writers

- Deborah Hopp, Open Bible Christian Academy

December 3

Creative to the Core: Integrating Art, Music & Writing to Connect with Self & Others

- Lindsay MacCuaig, The Crossroads School

Being a Star—Conflict Resolution Strategies

- Bobbi Livingston, Imagine Public Charter School

Spring Sessions:

March 10

The Print Shop: Writing with Money Sense

- Keona Jones, Glenmount Elementary School

Creating Community: Revealing the Writers Within

- Nanci Werner, Lincoln Springs Elementary School

April 21

Show, Don't Tell: Enliven Writing with Sensory Imagery

- Jillian Tabone, Sparrows Point High School

Writers as Quiltmakers: Exploring a Subject Piece by Piece

- Mary Reisinger, Goucher College

For more information, contact the Maryland Writing Project at www.towson.edu/mwp.
Click on Write-to-Learn Saturday Workshops.
To register, email Wendy Gibson at wg0714@comcast.net.
For directions and a campus map, log on to www.towson.edu/main/maps.
PARK IN THE TOWSONTOWN GARAGE ACROSS FROM THE NEW CLA BUILDING ON CAMPUS.

