

The Regional Economic Studies Institute (RESI) at Towson University

Providing cost-effective and accessible consulting solutions in economics and human services

RESI offers a wide variety of services and expertise to help businesses and government find the right solutions for success.

- Economic and Fiscal Impact Analyses
- Human Services Policy Analyses
- Green Economy Analyses
- Industry Analyses
- Survey Analyses
- Cost of Services Analyses
- Workforce and Commuter Analyses

RESI emphasizes an interdisciplinary approach that combines knowledge with technology.

Thinking Outside

RESI at Towson University

RESI can provide you with reliable and valuable research.

State-of-the-art modeling and analytical techniques allow RESI to find solutions to the most complex public policy and business problems.

An open exchange of Ideas and knowledge with Towson University faculty and professional researchers provides our clients with access to experts in a wide array of fields.

The Annual Economic Outlook Conference, sponsored by RESI, is THE event each year for Maryland policy makers, economic developers, and business executives. RESI presents the Economic Forecast for Maryland and regional experts participate in a lively debate on a relevant topic. Past conference themes have included Sustainable Economic Development and the Success of the ARRA.

www.towson.edu/conference

EDA Center

The US Department of Commerce designated Towson University's Regional Economic Studies Institute (RESI) as an EDA University Center. The Department of Commerce establishes Centers around the country to generate jobs, help retain existing jobs, and stimulate industrial and commercial growth in economically-distressed areas of the United States.

About RESI

RESI is comprised of a diverse group of highly skilled professionals and has over 20 years of experience in providing economic and human services consulting in Maryland and employs that experience every day to meet and exceed the needs of our clients.

Contact Us

7400 York Road, Suite 200
Towson, MD 21204
410-704-RESI(7374) resi@towson.edu
www.towson.edu/outreach/resi

