Q: What role do you serve on the GSA?
A: I am the graduate student representative for the College of Health Professions. I serve on the Instructional and Informational Technology Committee and the BTU committee. I also am involved in processing graduate student research and travel awards.

Q: How has serving on the GSA helped you professionally or personally?
A: Serving on the GSA has helped me further develop my interpersonal skills and branch out. It has allowed me to learn about Towson's Graduate Programs behind the scene.

Q: What has been the best part about your experience at Towson University?
A: The best part about my time at Towson has been the life long learning I am experiencing through my program (audiology) and all of the people I have met through the GSA.

Q: What advice do you have for fellow Graduate Students?
A: My advice to graduate students is that graduate school is a whole different ball game compared to undergrad. Keep what works, but don't be afraid to throw out what doesn't and start fresh. Graduate school can be challenging, but it is very dependent on what your major is, I can only speak to Audiology which is very different from other programs because it is a 4 year doctorate program that is full time. For any graduate student I would emphasize the need for social interaction and giving yourself breaks from constant studying, if you don't it will drive you crazy and you will miss out on these years in school. Education is so much more than books and regurgitating information, it is about growing skills and acquiring new outlooks on life and yourself.
