EMERGENCY CLOSING POLICY

In the event that weather or other emergency conditions warrant the early closing, all-day closing or delayed opening of Towson University, an announcement will be made through the following communication channels:

- Towson University homepage
- TU emergency text message alert (registration required)
- Campus-wide email
- University Facebook page
- University Twitter feed
- Local radio and television stations

Such schedule adjustments will also be available on the Towson University Information Line, 410-704-2000. Please DO NOT call the University Police Department with university closing-related questions. The university will not post an announcement that the university is open. No announcement means "business as usual." When the main campus is closed, all events (including those sponsored by off-campus organizations) are cancelled. The university will not make any announcements about individual department or program activities. Towson University announcements of delayed opening or closure apply to the main campus, as well as Towson City Center, 7400 York Road and Terrace Dale.

Off-campus programs and courses adhere to the announcements applicable to the off-campus facility. (For example: Towson University in Northeastern Maryland follows Hartford Community College’s emergency closing and delayed opening decisions.)

GOING TO HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES

The school year is 36 weeks long, most classes extend over both terms. Classes generally have no more than 35 students. You may study outside class as little as zero to 2 hours a week, and this may be mostly last-minute test preparation. You seldom need to read anything more than once, and sometimes listening in class is enough. You are expected to read short assignments that are then discussed and often re-taught.

TESTS IN HIGH SCHOOL

Testing is frequent and covers small amounts of material. You are not responsible for knowing what it takes to graduate. Teachers generally conduct review sessions, pointing out the most important concepts.

GUIDANCE AND COUNSELING IN HIGH SCHOOL

Your high school guidance counselor will schedule your classes for you to meet state minimum requirements for graduation. Guidance counselors will help you with college applications and ACT/SAT testing.

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS

Teachers impart knowledge and facts, sometimes drawing direct connections and leading you through the thinking process. Teachers frequently conduct review sessions, pointing out the most important concepts.

TESTS IN COLLEGE

Testing is usually infrequent and may be cumulative, covering large amounts of material. You, not the professor, need to organize the material to prepare for the test. A particular course may have only two or three tests per term. Make-up tests are seldom an option, if they are, you need to request them. Teachers regularly conduct review sessions, and when they do they expect you to be an active participant, prepared with questions.

ACADEMIC ADVISERS IN COLLEGE

Your high school guidance counselor will schedule your classes for you to meet state minimum requirements for graduation. Academic advisers can provide referrals to other campus resources such as financial aid, study abroad, academic success resources and the Career Center. Academic advisers can assist you with transferring coursework from another college so that it applies to your Towson University degree requirements.

HOW COLLEGE IS DIFFERENT FROM HIGH SCHOOL

GRADES IN COLLEGE

Grades are given for most assigned work. Consistently good homework grades may raise your overall grade when test grades are low. Grades on tests and papers usually provide most of the course grade. Courses may only have two or three tests or assignments.

YOUR FIRST TEST GRADES, ESPECIALLY WHEN THEY ARE LOW, MAY NOT HAVE AN ADVERSE EFFECT ON YOUR FINAL GRADE. YOU MAY GRADUATE ONLY IF YOUR GRADE POINT AVERAGE IN CLASSES MEETS MAJOR AND UNIVERSITY REQUIREMENTS, A MINIMUM OF C (2.0) BUT OFTEN HIGHER.

ADAPTED FROM Southern Methodist University (http://cms.bsu.edu/Academics/Advising.aspx) and Ball State University (http://cms.bsu.edu/Academics/Advising.aspx).
ACADEMIC ADVISING FOR FYE STUDENTS

Towson University is committed to providing comprehensive advising designed to enrich the educational experiences of every student. Advising provides the opportunity for students to identify valuable campus resources, to understand university policies and procedures and to develop an academic plan that successfully fulfills personal and educational goals. However, the value of advising as a campus resource is dependent on your level of engagement as a student. A successful and rewarding advising experience requires the adviser and the advisee to actively work together as a team.

The First-Year Experience (FYE) is an advising program for freshmen that pairs each incoming student with a professional adviser or a faculty member who has received special training. You and your FYE adviser will work together throughout the first year to help you gain an understanding of the college experience and to create a foundation for academic success. All FYE students must meet with their assigned FYE adviser each term to discuss their academic plan and to have their FYE advising hold removed prior to registering for classes. After the first year, students who have declared a major will transition to major-based academic advising. Second-year students with a declared major will be assigned to a departmental faculty adviser. Students who have not declared a major by the end of their first year will be advised by a professional adviser in the Academic Advising, Retention and Completion Office in their second year.

ACADEMIC ADVISER RESPONSIBILITIES IN THE ACADEMIC ADVISING PROCESS:

• provide accurate information about university policies, procedures and academic requirements (including Core Curriculum, graduation and major department programs)
• serve as a link between students and the campus community, including helping with transitional issues and understanding of campus resources
• assist students in identifying and assessing goals and objectives as part of developing an academic plan
• provide registration information and advice regarding course selection appropriate to the student's academic plan
• assist students in understanding academic progress using the Academic Requirements Report

ADVISING HOLDS YOU MIGHT SEE ON YOUR ACCOUNT
You can find information on the necessary steps to have advising holds removed by clicking on the hold in your student dashboard.

FYE – First-Year Experience Program
DCP – Degree Completion Plan (at 45 credits a Degree Completion Plan must be filed)
IAP – Intentional Advising Program
ARP – Academic Renewal Program
AW – Academic Warning
ADO – Advising & Orientation (for new freshmen or new transfers)

THINGS TO REMEMBER
My FYE adviser is: __________________________ Phone: __________________________

The Academic Advising, Retention and Completion Office offers professional and peer advising to assist students with general questions about academic programs and policies. The Academic Advising, Retention and Completion Office does not provide major-specific advising; rather, we help students find resources and understand TU’s academic programs and policies.

THE FYE ADVISING PROCESS
1. Your FYE adviser is assigned to you based on your major and other academic interests, as indicated on your academic interest form. Students with declared majors are typically assigned an FYE adviser in their major department or academic college.
2. Students who are undecided about a major are typically assigned an adviser from the Academic Advising, Retention and Completion Office. Athletes and other special groups are assigned accordingly.
3. Your FYE adviser's name is listed on your course schedule under ORIE 305 in the fall and ORIE 306 in the spring. You can also find your FYE adviser’s name on your student dashboard.
4. Every first-year student is required to meet with his/her assigned adviser prior to registering for the following term. FYE advising holds are removed by your FYE adviser during your advising session.
5. Registration for the spring term usually begins in November. Registration for the fall term usually begins in April. The academic advising process will vary with each adviser. Your adviser will notify you via TU email with details of advising meetings.

HOW YOUR FIRST-TERM SCHEDULE WAS CREATED
Your initial schedule was created based on many factors, including the following:

• when your academic interest form was received
• math placement test score
• AP/IB or transfer credits
• academic interests
• time constraints
• residential or commuter status
• availability of courses

OVERVIEW OF KEY DATES IN THE FYE ADVISING CALENDAR:

FALL TERM:
August: Mandatory group advising meeting during Welcome to TU
September: Individual check-in meeting with your adviser
October: mandatory group advising meeting
November: mandatory individual advising meeting (the advising hold placed on your registration access for fall cannot be removed without this advising session)

SPRING TERM:
March: mandatory group advising meeting
April: mandatory individual advising meeting (the advising hold placed on your registration access for fall cannot be removed without this advising session)

In addition to the dates above, you can make an appointment to meet with your adviser at any time during the term. More detailed information about the FYE schedule for the year can be found on your ORIE 305 and ORIE 306 syllabi.

1. As a transferring student you will have the opportunity to make adjustments to your schedule on your own beginning the day after the entire transfer student orientation program ends. Please note that changes are at your own risk so remember to take major/degree requirements and any prerequisites into consideration. Once you drop a class, it is possible that you may not be able to get it back.
2. Some courses, particularly those in your major, may be restricted, requiring department consent or a special permit to enroll in the class. Before dropping other courses, contact the department restricting the course for information on how to get into the class. Please refer to The Registration Process–How to Make Changes to Your Class Schedule section of this booklet.

CAMPUS EMAIL POLICY

Your academic adviser will communicate with you through your TU email account. For confidentiality purposes, when communicating via email please use your TU email address and include your student ID number.

DEGREE COMPLETION PLAN (BE A TIGER ON TRACK)

If you have 45 or more earned credits (including transfer credits), you must meet with your major adviser to complete a degree completion plan. A degree completion plan, individualized to your needs, takes into account not only the courses needed to complete your degree but the appropriate sequence and timing of the courses.

TO PREPARE YOUR INDIVIDUALIZED DEGREE COMPLETION PLAN:

- check out TU’s online undergraduate catalog for the suggested plan of study for your major;
- review your academic requirements report to see which graduation requirements you have met and which you need to complete;
- access the website of your college or major department to find information about how to file a degree completion plan with your adviser or academic department.

Your plan is a road map, but it can change if your direction (degree program) changes. With your degree completion plan in place, you will be able to monitor your progress and be a Tiger on track!

FRESHMAN TRANSFER PROGRAM (FTP)

CCBC contact: Joanne Gyr. Email: jgyr@ucc.bc.md.edu

This program is a partnership between Towson University and the Community College of Baltimore County. Students in Towson University’s Freshman Transition Program take Community College of Baltimore County courses taught by CCBC faculty on TU’s main campus in the late afternoons and evenings. They live in TU’s residence halls and receive the same support services as TU students. After successful completion of the FTP program, students have a seamless transition into Towson University and transfer their CCBC credits to TU. Students do not have to reapply to TU.

ACADEMIC REQUIREMENTS

Students may participate in this program for a maximum of two consecutive terms. Academic progress while in the program is governed by CCBC academic standards. View the CCBC Catalog for a full description of academic standards. Students will be eligible for a seamless transition from CCBC to Towson University if they meet either of the following FTP criteria:

- By the conclusion of the fall term, complete at least nine transferable credits with a 3.0 or better cumulative grade point average (GPA), a final grade of C or higher in all courses, or
- By the conclusion of the spring term, complete at least 15 total transferable credits with a 2.5 or better cumulative GPA and a final grade of C or higher if enrolled in a developmental course.

All students are enrolled in five FTP courses and must maintain full-time enrollment. Students who do not meet the requirements to transition to TU for the spring term must meet a fall term GPA of 2.0 or higher to continue in the FTP for spring.

Students who do not successfully complete the FTP requirements or who discontinue the program must make alternate arrangements or re-apply to TU using regular criteria for transfer admission.

For more information, please refer to the FTP FAQ page: towson.edu/ftp

USING THE UNDERGRADUATE CATALOG

catalog.towson.edu/undergraduate

The undergraduate catalog is divided into several sections including: university curriculum, academic policies, academic colleges and departments and course descriptions.

University curriculum will list what you need to do to graduate from Towson University. Also included in this section is a list of the Core Curriculum requirements and a checklist for you to track your progress. For your convenience, we have duplicated them in this guide.

Academic policies will explain academic situations that may arise (satisfactory academic progress, good academic standing, etc.).

The academic colleges and departments section is divided alphabetically by department. Each department has a section that explains the major and its tracks and concentrations. If the department offers a minor, it is explained there also. A specific list of courses needed to fulfill each major/minor or concentration or track is detailed in the department section, so it is a good idea to bookmark the page that begins the section for your major department.

As you look through the courses needed for your major or minor—or even some Core Curriculum courses—check out the course descriptions to be sure that you are eligible to take the course. Some courses are reserved for students in a particular major or minor and they will be designated department consent. If you believe you are eligible to take a restricted course, you should contact the department directly.

Ways of Knowing

1. Arts and Humanities: The arts examine aesthetics and the development of the aesthetic form. Courses in this area may include, but are not limited to fine, performing and studio art, appreciation of the arts and history of the arts. All courses, including fine, performing and studio arts, will explore the relationship between theory and practice. The humanities examine the values and cultural heritage that establish the framework for inquiry into the meaning of life. Courses in the humanities may include but are not limited to the language, history, literature and philosophy of Western and other cultures. (The course meeting this requirement must be taken in a discipline different from the course meeting requirement four.)

2. Social and Behavioral Sciences: The social and behavioral sciences examine the psychology of individuals and the ways in which individuals, groups or segments of society behave, function and influence one another. They include, but are not limited to, subjects that focus on history and cultural diversity; on the construction and influence of human societies; on the concepts of groups, work and political systems; on the applications of qualitative and quantitative data to social issues; and on the interdependence of individuals, society and the physical environment.

3. Mathematics: Requires skills at the level of college algebra or above. Apply concepts and skills in the mathematical sciences and emphasize both theoretical foundations and problem-solving applications such as finite mathematics, statistics, discrete mathematics and mathematical survey courses.

4. Creativity and Creative Development: Specific creative activity emphasizing symbolic, affective and imaginative thinking in the creative activity and understanding the creative process through participating in it. Reflect current scholarship in the field, provide reference to theoretical frameworks and methods and explore the critical standards central to the genre or medium.

5. Science and Natural World: Science examines the natural world and how new patterns of relationships are shaping and being shaped by cultural, religious, economic, political and technological forces. How the global environment is being changed, by major social, cultural, economic, political and technological forces and how the new patterns of relationships are shaping and being shaped by the global environment.

6. Diversity and Difference: These courses are designed to help students understand different perspectives on ethical problems and different processes and techniques helpful in reaching sound judgments.

7. Biological and Physical Sciences (Lab Only): The biological and physical sciences systematically investigate living systems and the physical universe and introduce students to methods used to collect, quantify and interpret scientific data and to synthesize and apply scientific concepts. Courses in this category present the historical development and structural nature of the subject, illustrate the predictive nature of these sciences and employ mathematics and computing techniques as appropriate. Students must take two courses in the biological and physical sciences categories with at least one four-unit course that includes a laboratory. The laboratory experience will emphasize hands-on investigations and scientific inquiry. Students must select either two courses from different scientific disciplines or two sequenced courses within one discipline.

8. Biological and Physical Sciences (Lab and Non-Lab): See description above.

9. Advanced Writing Seminar: Courses in this category will address (1) the discourse models and practices important to a specific discipline and (2) techniques of formatting and reporting, validation and documentation required to write with authority and authenticity within the discipline. A grade of C or higher must be earned to satisfy Core requirements.

10. Metropolitan Perspectives: Courses in metropolitan perspectives examine and explore the metropolis (as broadly conceived) in its past and present complexities. The category includes courses that describe characteristics of specific places—like the Baltimore–Washington area—or metropolises in general, contemporary or historic—regardless of location—through the lens of an appropriate discipline.

11. The United States as a Nation: Courses addressing the United States as a nation explore the institutions, history, culture or traditions of the United States with an emphasis on addressing through a particular subject matter the broader experience of the nation as a whole.

12. Global Perspectives: Courses in global perspectives examine how the global environment is being changed, by major social, cultural, religious, economic, political and technological forces and how new patterns of relationships are shaping and being shaped by the global environment.

13. Diversity and Difference: Courses in diversity and difference will explore relationships of distinctiveness and interdependence and conflict and cooperation between and among people with varying cultures, beliefs, identities and capabilities. Courses will cultivate in students the ability to examine and articulate differences of conviction and perception through open exchange and civil discourse. As part of that process, students will also come to understand more fully the lenses through which they view the world.

14. Ethical Issues and Perspectives: Courses in ethical issues and perspectives will develop one or more ethical issues of current importance to any of a broad range of academic disciplines. These courses are designed to help students understand different perspectives on ethical problems and different processes and techniques helpful in reaching sound judgments.
ACADEMIC REQUIREMENTS REPORT (ARR)

The ARR is a feature in the student dashboard that allows students to track their academic progress, including Core Curriculum, major, minor and other graduation requirements. It is an essential tool, in conjunction with a student’s degree plan, to ensure satisfactory academic progress.

The top of the ARR displays the progress of the Core Curriculum requirements.

The report view is defaulted to show satisfied requirements as closed and those that are unsatisfied as open.

Once you have declared a major, the ARR will also indicate which major requirements you have completed and which you still need to complete.

Using the ARR will ensure that you are aware of the Core Curriculum, major and graduation requirements you have completed or have yet to complete.

SAMPLE DEGREE PLAN

Each student is required to create a graduation plan with their academic adviser, which provides them with a roadmap to complete their degree requirements. For first-year students, this will be completed in the first term of second year. For transfer students, it will be completed their first term on campus.

The table below reflects a sample four-year course sequence:

REGISTERING FOR YOUR SECOND TERM

Beginning with your second term, you will enroll in classes on your own on an assigned enrollment appointment date. You will only be able to enroll after discussing your class selection with your adviser.

The enrollment date will be in your student dashboard. Enrollment dates are determined on the amount of credit each student has earned, with priority given to students with more credit.

The change of schedule period will be the last opportunity to add, drop or swap classes. View the academic calendar for this date.

Registration is completed online through Towson Online Services. If you have problems, contact the Registrar’s Office at (410) 704-2701. An online tutorial is also available at towson.edu/registrar/registration

THE REGISTRATION PROCESS

While class time and study time may be the most obvious, there are many factors to consider when planning your schedule, including time for:

• study (recommended 2–3 hours for each hour of instruction)
• travel to class and between classes. Make sure you leave enough time to travel to and from each class location (e.g., York Road Building, Enrollment Services, Center for the Arts, Burdick Hall, etc.) Note that some classes are scheduled on off-site campuses, including the Towson University Northeastern Maryland building located in Harford County.
• athletics or music training/practice, off-campus observation, internships, etc.
• meals
• work
• social activities
• family obligations
• sleep

In addition to students who are enrolled full time at Towson University in Northeastern Maryland, main campus students may also register for courses offered at the TU facility located in Bel Air, Maryland. TUNE students may also register for courses at the main campus.

6. Click on the classes you intend to enroll in and click on the Enroll button to finalize your registration.
DO ALL CLASSES HAVE A WAIT LIST? If a wait list is available, an orange triangle icon will appear next to the section in the Class Schedule. Not all classes or departments offer wait lists, so if a class is full and no wait list is available, re-visit Towson Online Services regularly for possible openings or contact the academic department.

WHAT IS THE ADVANTAGE OF ENROLLING IN A WAIT LIST? The wait list enables students to be automatically enrolled in closed classes as seats become available.

IS THERE A LIMIT TO THE NUMBER OF CLASSES THAT CAN BE WAIT LISTED? The limit is set by using units rather than classes. Students have a limit of 10 wait-list units during fall, spring and summer terms. For minimester, you may wait list up to three units. Please note: Regardless of how many units you are wait listed for, you will not be enrolled beyond the maximum number of units permitted for the term.

ARE THE WAIT-LISTED UNITS COUNTED INTO THE STUDENT’S TOTAL UNITS FOR THE TERM? Wait-listed courses are not counted toward full-time status or calculated in bills.

CAN I WAIT LIST IN MORE THAN ONE SECTION OF THE SAME CLASS? Yes, you can wait list for multiple sections of the same class. However, once you are enrolled in one section, the other wait-listed section will be automatically dropped.

I WAIT LISTED A COURSE AND THEN ENROLLED IN AN OPEN SECTION OF THE SAME COURSE. WHAT HAPPENED TO MY WAIT-LISTED SECTION? Once you enroll in an open section, any wait-listed sections for the same course will automatically drop.

CAN I REMAIN ENROLLED IN MY CURRENT SECTION BUT WAIT LIST A DIFFERENT SECTION? If you wish to remain enrolled in your current section until space becomes available in the closed section, enroll in the wait-listed section using the SWAP feature (see No. 9).

CAN I WAIT LIST FOR A CLASS THAT CONFLICTS IN MEETING TIMES WITH A CLASS THAT I’M ALREADY ENROLLED IN? Yes, you can wait list for multiple sections of the same class. However, if you are enrolled in one section, the other wait-listed section will be automatically dropped.

WHEN SHOULD I USE THE SWAP FEATURE TO ENROLL IN A WAIT-LISTED CLASS? If you are currently enrolled in another section of the same course or are in a course that has a time conflict with the wait-listed course, use the SWAP feature to enroll in the wait-listed course. SWAP the enrolled or conflicting course with the closed section, choosing the wait-list option. Once space is available in the wait-listed section, the system will automatically swap the enrolled course with the wait-listed course.

WHAT IS THE FIRST DAY I CAN GET ON A WAIT LIST? Wait lists are only available once the class has reached its enrollment capacity. For high-demand classes, this may be the first day of registration.

WHAT IS THE LAST DAY I CAN GET ON A WAIT LIST? For the fall and spring terms the last day to select the wait list option is the Friday before the term begins. Students will continue to be enrolled over the weekend should a seat become available. The wait-list process ends on Monday.

HOW WILL I KNOW WHEN I AM ENROLLED IN THE WAIT-LISTED CLASS? Students are notified by an email sent to their TU account.

1. DO ALL CLASSES HAVE A WAIT LIST?
2. WHAT IS THE ADVANTAGE OF ENROLLING IN A WAIT LIST?
3. IS THERE A LIMIT TO THE NUMBER OF CLASSES THAT CAN BE WAIT LISTED?

Note: A+, C- and D- grades do not exist at TU.

PASS D OR F GRADING OPTION

Students may elect to be graded on a pass basis for a maximum of 13 units toward their degree. This option is not available for courses required for a major, minor, Honors College or for certification in teacher education unless special permission is obtained from the department chair. Students must make all changes before the published withdrawal deadline and change in grading option each term. Students must submit a pass/fail docuSign form, which can be found here: towson.edu/registrar/forms.html. Students electing this option must earn a grade equivalent of 2.00 (C) or higher in order to receive the pass (P) grade, which is not calculated into the GPA. Students who earn below the grade equivalent of 2.00 will earn that grade, which will be calculated in the GPA.

REPEATING COURSES

When courses are repeated, students will receive credit for the course only once. Only the higher of the two grades will be calculated into the GPA. The lower grade will remain on the record with a repeat excluded message. If taking a course for a third time, before registering for the course, students must complete a petition for a third attempt form which can be found online at towson.edu/registrar/grades. Grades of W are administrative and are not considered as part of the repeated course procedure. Courses that have been accepted previously for transfer credit by TU or have been attempted or completed for units at TU may not be repeated at other institutions.

STOP BEFORE YOU DROP…OR WITHDRAW

DROPPING A CLASS

The change of schedule period begins in the days following the start of the term. See the academic calendar for details. During that period, students may add or drop courses through their online services account. Courses dropped during this period do not appear on a student’s transcript.

The number of credits in which a student is enrolled at the end of change of schedule period serves as the basis for determining billing, financial aid and enrollment status.

WITHDRAWING FROM A CLASS

The withdrawal deadline varies by term. Please see the academic calendar for exact dates. Students may withdraw through their online services account. Students who withdraw receive a grade of W, which does not affect the student’s grade point average (GPA). However, students who are considering withdrawing from one or more courses should determine whether their enrollment status will change from full-time (12 credits or more) to part-time (fewer than 12 credits) and should consider the following potential consequences of course withdrawal:

- Impact on financial aid or scholarships for the current term or future enrollment periods (consult your financial aid adviser)
- Eligibility for on-campus housing (consult the Office of Housing & Residence Life or Capstone On Campus Management)
- Eligibility for continued participation in athletics (consult your athletics adviser)
- Eligibility for continuation in the Honors College (consult your honors adviser)
- Eligibility for VA benefits (consult Veterans Benefits Office)
- Impact on visa status for international students (consult your ISSO adviser)
- Impact on health insurance and medical coverage
- Impact on automobile insurance
- Impact on automobile insurance

For further information about the withdrawal policy, check the Registrar’s Office website: towson.edu/registrar/registration.

Before making a final decision about withdrawal, students are strongly encouraged to consult with their assigned academic adviser or with a member of the Academic Advising, Retention and Completion Office professional staff.

ACADEMIC STANDARDS AND PROCEDURES

ACADEMIC STANDARDS AND PROCEDURES

ACADEMIC STANDARDS AND PROCEDURES
6. Go to class. Pay attention. Do not use your phone or the internet while in class. Ask questions if you don’t understand something the professor is saying. Take thorough notes.

2. Seek out the professor. Take advantage of your professor’s office hours. Every professor has published office hours on the syllabus or posted on the office door. Do not be afraid to build a relationship with your professor. They are there to support you. Do not wait until the last minute. Be prepared when you go to ask the questions you need to understand the topic, to get suggestions on how to improve your grade in class or to make sure you understand the assignments. Having connections with your professors can also help you down the road when applying for internships, jobs, graduate school or general networking.

3. Seek out your academic adviser. Freshmen are assigned to an FYE adviser with whom they can discuss their difficulties. Non-freshmen are assigned an adviser in their major department. Open major upper-class students will be advised in the Academic Advising, Retention & Completion Office, Cook Library, The Academic Commons Suite 343. Your adviser can make suggestions on how you approach your class work or can suggest other helpful tips in becoming a better student.

4. Attend workshops provided by the Tutoring & Learning Center. The TLC conducts many different workshops during each term on topics designed to assist students in studying more effectively, improving concentration and being better prepared to take exams. These are free and open to all students. The TLC is located in Cook Library, The Academic Commons Suite 343. The TLC website offers more useful information at towson.edu/tlc. Select TLC workshops will be offered at the Towson University in Northeastern Maryland (TUNE) facility each term.

5. Sign up for assistance from a student tutor. Tutors work out of the Tutoring & Learning Center and this service is free to students. Tutors are available in most disciplines. Contact the Tutoring & Learning Center at 410-704-2291 to request a tutor. Students attending courses at the TUNE facility should contact the academic support coordinator at actune@towson.edu or contact their academic adviser for additional academic support.

6. Use the services provided by the Spence Math Lab, Writing Center, Computer Science Tutorial Lab and Natural Sciences Tutorial Lab. These are available to students at no charge and are designed as a walk-in service; no appointment is necessary. Visit towson.edu/tlc for up-to-date location and office hours.

7. Form a study group with three or four students in the same class. Study groups can improve a student’s understanding of the material by sharing information and filling in knowledge gaps. In reviewing information with other students, you become more familiar with the material, you hear the information presented in a different way and you can ask questions to comprehend more fully the study materials.

8. Increase your study time. Collective wisdom indicates that for every hour spent in class, a student ought to be spending three hours outside class preparing for assignments, reading materials and texts, writing papers and studying for exams. If you are taking a three-credit class, you ought to be spending nine hours a week getting prepared. It might help if you put study time in your calendar/planer.

9. Find the Academic Commons Suite. These are available to students at no charge and are designed as a walk-in service; no appointment is necessary. Visit towson.edu/tlc for up-to-date location and office hours.

10. Visit designed as a walk-in service, so no appointment is necessary. Use the services

Fraternity & Sorority Life

University Union 251 · 410-704-2332
towson.edu/gregweek · Instagram: @tugreeklife

Fraternities and sororities have played an active and integral role in the campus community since the early 1970s. TU’s Fraternity & Sorority Life today includes approximately 40 chapters and five governing councils that, with more than 2,900 active members in the spring term, represent more than 12% of the campus population.

All chapters are open to full-time, degree-seeking students with at least a 2.5 cumulative GPA. Each chapter, however, may have a higher GPA requirement for membership. Interested students meeting membership requirements may participate in organized recruitment activities, commonly known as recruitment or recruitment intake. Once the recruitment period has passed, those who continue pursuing their interests move on to the educational phase to learn about the history and traditions of the national organization and local chapter. Upon completing the prescribed educational program, candidates participate in initiation and become full members of the organization of their choice. Follow us on Instagram at @tugreeklife for updates about events and current organizations.

New Student & Family Programs

University Union 251 · 410-704-2309 · towson.edu/orientation

New Student Orientation is a three-part process for incoming freshmen and transferring students that begins with pre-orientation modules followed by a one-day summer orientation during June or July and concludes with a four-day Welcome to TU program in August. During New Student Orientation, students will connect with orientation leaders (OLs) and other incoming students. Learn about campus resources, meet with an advisor and receive information about course scheduling. During Welcome to TU, students will meet their First-Year Experience (FYE) advisor to review any changes to their schedule, reconnect with their orientation leader, learn about mandatory safety and health resources on campus and participate in a variety of fun and exciting activities. The Office of New Student & Family Programs (NSFP) also helps the families of new students become connected to Towson University through the TU for Families newsletter, the Towson Family Network and our annual Family Weekend celebration in the fall. During the academic year, NSFP continues to support the transition of all new students through a variety of programs, such as the Transfer Mentor Program, and leadership development opportunities.

College Readiness Outreach Program (CROP)

The College Readiness Outreach Program (CROP) connects ninth graders from Baltimore City public high schools with TU students who serve as mentors. The program also provides a series of college readiness workshops.

Local, underrepresented students are provided opportunities through CROP to build a solid plan for matriculating successfully through high school then college. TU college students volunteer to facilitate individual or group sessions sharing their experiences, encouraging academic persistence and helping students rethink what success means for them.

Students participate in various activities to improve academic, budget management and decision-making skills. Participants also expand their knowledge of diverse cultural groups, learn career development strategies and participate in networking opportunities.

The SAGE program fosters academic achievement, encourages campus involvement and provides a sense of belonging for first-year, underrepresented students. Students must opt-in to the program to be assigned a mentor. Program events occur every Tuesday in the University Union Ballrooms from 4–5 p.m.

SAGE Residential Learning Community

PROCEDURES

A. Reporting

The University encourages prompt reporting of allegations that a Student, Student Group, or Student Organization violated this Code. Reports can be made by any person to OSCCE in person, via phone (410-704-2057), or electronically (online reporting form at towson.edu/report). Allegations of violations occurring within On-Campus Housing may also be referred to the Department of Housing and Residence Life.

Those reporting an allegation are normally expected to serve as a witness and to present relevant evidence during a University Hearing or Conduct Resolution Meeting.

B. Due Process

The purpose of these procedures is to ensure fundamental fairness to Students facing a charge. The University fairly evaluates allegations of a Code violation. Among other things, this means that the Responding Party will receive notice of the charges against them, an opportunity to offer evidence (including identifying witnesses) in support of their position, and a chance to review (in advance) any documents or other information the University intends to consider. Every Student has the due process right to:

• Notice of the charges against them (including the specific Code violation(s) alleged) and the circumstances surrounding the incident or alleged misconduct;
• Participation in a Conduct Resolution Meeting;
• Participate in a Hearing when (i) the charges allege a violation of the Sexual Misconduct Policy and/or (ii) potential discipline includes Suspension, Expulsion, or Removal from On-Campus Housing;
• Identify and present relevant evidence (including witnesses) in support of their position;
• Review, in advance of a Hearing or the imposition of disciplinary sanction, evidence the University intends to consider;
• Have a Support Person present during interviews, meetings, or Hearings;
• Notice about how to contact OSCCE to ask questions about the process, schedule a Conduct Resolution Meeting, etc.; and
• Appeal a finding of responsibility for a Code violation/or a disciplinary sanction.

The University will act reasonably to ensure evidence is considered (or not considered in a manner consistent with basic standards of fundamental fairness). Harmless deviations from the prescribed procedures shall not necessarily invalidate an outcome unless they caused significant prejudice.

C. Disciplinary Meetings and Hearings

OSCCE follows a consistent process based on allegations of a violation of the Code. As described more in the full code online, this includes, as necessary, a Preliminary Review, Conduct were known or should have been known by members of the Student Group or Student Organization, or (vi) were activities that the Student Group or Student Organization could reasonably have prevented.

DISCIPLINARY RECORDS

The University creates a disciplinary record for every enrolled Student. In most cases, the disciplinary record contains no information (i.e., it only records that the University imposed no discipline upon the Student).

A Student Group and/or Student Organization may be charged with violations of the Code resulting from the actions of its members, if the actions: (i) arose out of activities sanctioned by or related to the Student Group or Student Organization; (ii) were encouraged, fostered, or condoned by the Student Group or Student Organization; or (iii) were known or should have been known by members of the Student Group or Student Organization; (iv) were activities that the Student Group or Student Organization could reasonably have prevented.

academic warning: A status for students who have a cumulative grade point average below good academic standing. See Undergraduate Catalog for more information.

academic year: A period of time in which a student would normally be expected to complete the equivalent of two terms. The academic year at Towson University usually begins with the fall term (late August or early September through mid-December) and ends with the spring term (late January through mid-May). Other terms at Towson include summer trimester and Minimester (during January).

add/drop (change of schedule) period: The days following the start of the term when students may add, drop or swap classes with their original schedule. Dates are determined by the Registrar’s Office each term.

Advanced Placement (AP) credit: College credits earned while in high school through advanced placement testing offered through the College Entrance Examination Board in Princeton, New Jersey.

advising (ADVH) hold: All students who are not in the First-Year Experience (FYE) advising program and who are not within their last term before graduation are required to meet with the adviser assigned to them by their major department prior to registration for the next fall or spring term. This requirement is enforced with the advising hold, which is indicated by ADV and prevents students from registering. Once the student has completed the advising requirement, their adviser will remove this hold.

attempted units vs. earned units: Attempted units are the number of units a student enrolls in for credit. Earned units are the number of units for which a student receives a passing grade. For example: If a student starts the term with 15 attempted units and fails one three-unit course, the student will have attempted 15 units but earned 12 units.

auditing: A grading option that allows a student (with written permission from the instructor) to attend and participate in a class without earning a calculated grade or credit toward graduation. See Undergraduate Catalog for detailed information.

Bachelor of Arts degree: Completion of all requirements listed in the designated catalog for the Bachelor of Science degree in addition to completing two language courses and the English language requirement at the intermediate level in college or completing at least one course beyond the intermediate level in college.

Bachelor of Science degree: Completion of all requirements listed in the designated catalog including: completing the online application for graduation; 120 earned units that include course work to satisfy all Core Curriculum requirements, 32 upper-level units (kourses numbered 300 and above); completion of a major with a minimum of 2.0 grade equivalent for all courses applied toward the major, a cumulative GPA of at least 2.0 and completion of at least 30 units in residence at Towson University.

Bachelor of Fine Arts degree: Completion of all requirements listed for the Bachelor of Science degree in addition to the performance and studio requirements specified by the Department of Dance and the Department of Art + Design, Art History, Art Education.

Bachelor of Music degree: Completion of all requirements listed for the Bachelor of Science degree in addition to all performance and studio requirements specified by the Department of Music.

catalog: College catalogs provide all types of information that parents and students need to know about a school, including the institution’s history and philosophy, policies and procedures, accreditation status, courses of study, degrees and certificates offered, graduation requirements, campus map, academic calendar and schedule procedures, financial aid, and student life activities. Each student is assigned a catalog year based on when they enter Towson University. Towson University uses an electronic undergraduate catalog that can be found online.

class number: The number assigned to each individual class section for the purpose of registering for that particular class and section during registration. A four- or five-digit number in parentheses located to the right of the class name and section number as listed in the online services schedule of classes. The class number identifies a time, location and instructor to each course.

class vs. course: The word class is used to identify the days/times that a specific course is required to be completed with a grade of C or higher. Each course may have multiple class sections.

Core Curriculum: The university Core Curriculum is arranged to give students an opportunity to take courses in all of the critical areas that make up a college education. Towson University Core Curriculum requirements include 14 courses in four categories: fundamentals, ways of knowing, writing in a chosen field and perspectives.

course descriptions: Description of the content of the course and any prerequisites needed to enroll in the course. Course descriptions can be found at the end of the online catalog and also by clicking on the course name and number during the online registration process.

credit: See units/credits.

cumulative grade point average (GPA): Cumulative grade point average (GPA) refer to the overall grade point average, which includes dividing the number of quality points earned in all courses successful completed by the total unit hours in all courses attempted in which a grade has been received.

degree completion plan: An individualized degree completion plan (DCP) takes the suggested plan of study for your major concentration/track and personalizes it for your academic career given your unique needs, goals and aspirations. This plan could help save you time and money by highlighting a more direct route toward degree completion and graduation. All TU students are required to complete an DCP when they have 45 or more earned credits.

enrollment: Also known as registration. This is the procedure by which students choose classes each term. A student enrolls in courses by logging onto Towson Online Services and adding courses to their schedule.

enrollment appointment: The day and time a student is eligible to begin course registration. Your opportunity to register or change your schedule starts with your enrollment appointment and ends the night before classes begin for the term. Assignments are determined by the number of units a student has earned—the more units earned, the earlier a student can register. The enrollment appointment can be viewed online on the student dashboard page.

honors college: An enhanced college experience for the most highly qualified and motivated students (as determined by test scores and grades). Entering freshmen are invited to apply for admission to the Honors College. Rising sophomores also may apply. All applicants must meet the Honors College’s stringent admission standards. Students must complete 24 units of specific coursework and maintain at least a 3.8 grade point average to remain in good standing in the Honors College. Students in the Honors College enjoy smaller class sizes, priority registration, access to special campus facilities (including honors housing) and merit scholarships. Most students are admitted to the Honors College for their freshman year but continuing and transfer students on the main campus may also apply.

honors course: Many honors courses are enhanced versions of Core Curriculum requirements but can also be specifically designed to meet the requirements of the Honors College. Honors courses use different course numbers and enrollment only can be accessed by those accepted into the Honors College.

International Baccalaureate (IB) courses: Some high schools participate in a rigorous program of academic study called the International Baccalaureate. If a student scores high enough in IB courses, TU will award the student college-level credits. Individually designed major: Sometimes a student is interested in a major that TU does not offer. The individually designed major (thematic option) gives students an opportunity to put together a program of study based on a major offered at another college or university. It requires a lot of thought and planning but can be a rewarding experience for a student.

Interdisciplinary studies major and minor: Majors and minors in this area bring together courses from different academic departments into unique programs. There are four majors and nine minors in this program. These majors are great for students with a broad range of interests. For example, the interdisciplinary studies major in American studies includes courses in history, anthropology, English, art history, geography, music, philosophy, political science and sociology as well as American studies.

Internship: Internships provide students with opportunities to gain real-world experience and build their skills and network of contacts while earning academic credit. Some majors at TU require one or more internships while others encourage their students to do an internship. While most students in internship programs at TU are juniors or seniors, a growing number of freshman and sophomore students are entering internships to explore careers of interest to them.

Language Proficiency Exam (PTE exam): Students with strong skills in a language other than English may apply to the department of Languages, Literatures & Cultures to take a challenge exam usually offered in November. Contact the department for a list of language exams, application information and test dates.

Major/academic plan: A major, also known as the academic plan in the Towson Online Services system, is an approved set of courses within an academic discipline (e.g., psychology, elementary education or nursing). A student must declare and meet the requirements for the major as stated in their assigned Undergraduate Catalog. A student must officially declare a major by the time they reach 60 earned units (junior standing).

Major concentration: A concentration is a sequential arrangement of courses representing a specialized area of study within a program. A concentration requires a minimum of 25 units and should have enough unique units to distinguish it from the major, track or another concentration. A concentration will appear on the student’s transcript as a sub-plan upon graduation.

Major track: A track is a sequential arrangement of courses representing a specialized area of study within a major program.

Minor: An approved set of courses within a major area of study or a separate, distinct thematic area of study consisting of at least 18 and no more than 90 units. A minor must have a minimum of 12 units, which must be upper-level courses (300-400 numbered courses) and no more than 12 units can be taken outside of the minor or thematic discipline. A grade equivalent of 2.0 or higher is required in all courses completed toward the minor.

National Student Exchange: This program allows full-time degree candidates an opportunity to become acquainted with social and educational partners in other areas of the United States. Through TU’s membership in the NSE, students may attend one of the 190 participating schools for a term or a full year. Schools participating in the program include those in 47 states, Puerto Rico, Guam and the Virgin Islands.
undergraduate: A term used to describe college freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors who are pursuing baccalaureate (bachelor’s) degrees, associate degrees and certificate programs.

units/credits: Courses taken in college are measured in units, also known as credit hours or credits. To earn one unit, a student must attend a class for one classroom hour each week of the term. Classes are offered in one-to-six unit increments, with most classes being three units.

warning hold: A service indicator placed on a student’s record when the cumulative GPA falls below the standard for a student’s classification. This hold requires the student to participate in intervention activities. The warning hold does not appear as a permanent part of the official transcript. withdrawal from a course: Voluntary disenrollment from the university by the student. Grades of W are recorded on the official transcript from all enrolled courses for the specific term. The W grades are not calculated in either the term or the cumulative GPA.
