Presented By:
Jason Stambaugh, Founder & CEO
Communities around the world are scrambling to find cost-effective and scalable solutions to produce more entrepreneurs and businesses.
Public middle and high schools represent the largest small business incubators in the world.
Students want to own businesses.

40%

Gallup-Hope 2013 Study
Celebrate and reward the next generation of innovators & entrepreneurs just like star athletes.
Since launching at SXSWedu in 2015, we are now powering competitions in 4 states.
Two of our customers are in Maryland: Frederick and Washington County Public Schools.
Turn-key Student Business Competitions

Proven Competition Model

Simple Online Platform

Personal Support, Training & Resources
“It gives students the opportunity to express themselves.”
- Chintan (finalist)

Cost-effectively engage every student.

- No new curriculum or testing
- No required classroom time
- No dedicated staff
- No required classes or pre-requisites
- No required student participation fees or teacher fundraising
1. Identify schools & coordinators

2. Students at each school pitch new business ideas

3. Finalists are selected from each school to present at a district-wide finale

4. Select and celebrate a winner
Every Maryland High School...

- Connect every Maryland high school through shared experience
- Engage business leaders in every Maryland community
- Launch the next generation of Maryland innovators and entrepreneurs
Launch the next generation of innovators and entrepreneurs

Jason Stambaugh
jason@launchgen.com
(410) 857-7525