SPRING 2024
A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR

Hello Lifelong Learners,

Osher at Towson University is reaching a new milestone in 2024. This year marks our 25th anniversary as a lifelong learning program at TU. The program got its start in 1999 as the Auburn Society. After receiving a first grant from the Bernard Osher Foundation in 2006, the Auburn Society became the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at Towson University. In 2009, the Osher Foundation recognized the program’s growth and vitality by awarding a $1 million endowment.

When former Osher director Jackie Gratz retired in 2017, she gave me two binders labeled “Auburn Society History”. As an historian herself, she started documenting the early history while she was a volunteer and continued when she became the director in 2003. These binders contain documentation of the program’s early administration, course and event flyers, and print outs of notable emails. As I leafed through the pages, it wasn’t long before I realized that it was a real page turner. While not as steamy as “Peyton Place”, there was a good deal of drama as the organization gained its footing. At first, the program bounced between different university departments. Then, there was the sudden resignation of the director. On top of that, there were misunderstandings about the level of governance volunteers could legally have within a state university program, resulting in the entire Auburn advisory board quitting at once. It was not an easy go of things in the beginning, but the program persevered.

As the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute, membership began to grow and so did the number of offerings. Even as there were growing pains, the program was thriving. In 2024, we are still a thriving program although there have been a few bumps in the road in recent years. Membership numbers are climbing back to pre-pandemic levels, and we consistently hear how much our members enjoy their courses. In 25 years, this program has evolved and adapted. We will continue to evolve and adapt in the years ahead. From the early days as the Auburn Society to today and beyond, Osher at Towson University is proud to have aged well. Happy Anniversary to us and more to come!

Warm regards,

Tracy Jacobs

ABOUT OSHER AT TOWSON UNIVERSITY

HISTORY AND MISSION
Founded in 1999 with its first home in the historic Auburn House on the Towson University campus, the Auburn Society became the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at Towson University in the summer of 2006 when it was awarded its first grant from the Bernard Osher Foundation. Osher is part of the university’s Division of Strategic Partnerships and Applied Research (SPAR).

The mission of Osher is to offer opportunities for continued learning along with programs and activities for social and cultural enrichment geared toward adults who are 50 and older. The basic concept of the organization is that learning is a life-long process and is enhanced in a congenial atmosphere with others who share a love of learning. There are no educational prerequisites for membership and no grades or credits are given.

Osher is a self-funded, membership organization, endowed by the Bernard Osher Foundation since 2009. Its programs and activities are planned and carried out by staff and member volunteers through committees. These committees include curriculum, membership engagement, philanthropy, and classroom facilitation.

ARTS, CULTURE & HUMANITIES

VIENNA: CITY OF MUSICAL DREAMS
Jonathan Palevsky

Sessions I and II
Tuesdays, 9:30 a.m. (begins March 5)
Fee: $140 ($70 for each session)

Vienna has contributed an enormous amount of music to the western musical canon. Considering that Vienna was the capital of the Austrian Habsburg empire it is not surprising that this amazing metropolis should be the home or adoptive home of Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, and Schubert. Vienna was also a great creative inspiration for Brahms, the entire Straus family, Mahler, Schoenberg, Berg, and Webern. We will examine the rich music and historical context of this imperial capital.

Jonathan Palevsky, B.M., M.M., is program director for WBJC. His undergraduate studies focused on musicology and his graduate work at Baltimore’s Peabody Institute focused on instrumental training in classical guitar performance. Jonathan can be heard as host of Face the Music, Past Masters, WBJC Opera Fest and regular afternoon classical programming on WBJC. He also hosts Cinema Sundays at the Charles Theater. Jonathan has been a regular of the Osher faculty since the former Auburn Society’s first semester in spring 1999.

THE ORIGINS OF JAZZ
Seth Kibel

Sessions I and II
Thursdays, 9:30 a.m. (begins March 7)
Fee: $140 ($70 for each session)

In this course, we will start our exploration in New Orleans, where multiple ethnicities and several musical traditions all converged to give birth to this uniquely American musical genre. We will then take our story to Chicago, in the 1920s, and wind up in New York, which will remain the epicenter of jazz from the 1930s up until the present day. We will explore different genres of jazz and the lives, careers, and music of many jazz notables.

Seth Kibel is one of the Mid-Atlantic’s premier woodwind specialists, working with some of the best bands in klezmer, jazz, swing, and more. Wowing audiences on clarinet, flute, and saxophone, Seth has made a name for himself in the Washington/Baltimore region, and beyond. He is the featured performer with The Kleztet, Bay Jazz Project, Music Pilgrim Trio, The Natty Beaux, and more. Winner of 28 Washington Area Music Awards (Wammies), including “Best World Music Instrumentalist” and “Best Jazz Instrumentalist.”

Make sure you are getting Osher emails and newsletter. Email osher@towson.edu.
WOMEN COMPOSERS OF THE ROMANTIC ERA: THE BELLE EPOQUE
Lisa Woznicki

Sessions I
Tuesdays, 2:30 p.m. (begins March 7)
Fee: $70

Last spring, Osher students explored the lives and accomplishments of three women composers: Fanny Mendelssohn Hensel, Clara Wieck Schumann, and Amy Beach. This spring, the journey continues with three new composers of the Belle Epoque, or Late Romantic Era. Each of the three women profiled this semester faced unique issues as they fought to have their music performed and published. Come hear the compelling personal histories and experience the transcendent music of Melanie Bonis (French, 1858–1937), Alma Schindler Mahler Werfel (Austrian, 1879–1964), and Florence Price (African American, 1887–1953). Please note that the previous course on women composers is not a prerequisite for this course.

Lisa Woznicki is the former performing arts librarian at the Albert S. Cook Library at Towson University. She also taught as an adjunct instructor in the Music History and Culture Division of the Department of Music at Towson University. Ms. Woznicki has undergraduate degrees in English literature and music from Towson University, as well as master’s degrees in library science, and music education from the University of Maryland, College Park, and Towson University, respectively.

WOMEN TRAILBLAZERS IN AMERICAN POPULAR MUSIC
Lisa Woznicki

Sessions II
Tuesdays, 2:30 p.m. (begins April 11)
Fee: $70

In the study of music history, popular music, particularly American popular music, has always been the poor cousin of concert/art music. While volumes of scholarship have been devoted to composers such as Leonard Bernstein and performers like Beverly Sills, the talents of singers and composers of popular music have stood in the shadow of their classical counterparts. This is especially the case with professional women composers and performers of popular music. In this course, we will look at women’s involvement in American popular music starting at the turn of the 20th century and ending with singer/songwriters of the 1970s. Discussions will focus on various genres of popular music, and the achievements and works of specific composers/performers will be highlighted. Students will examine the obstacles women faced as they worked to make their mark in a field dominated by men.
THE TOP 25 FILM SCORES OF ALL TIME
Emanuel Abramovits

ONLINE COURSE

The American Film Institute released a list of the best film scores, that includes many well-known classics and some surprises. The composers of those scores had fascinating lives and amazing careers. With the help of plenty of audiovisuals, stories, and anecdotes, we will learn how those historical pieces were created and how they are able to convey a film’s message without words while evoking emotional response even the most brilliant bit of dialogue cannot. With the participation of the students, we’ll build our alternative top 25 film scores of all time.

Emanuel Abramovits is a mechanical engineer with an MBA and has been a concert promoter since 2000, directly involved in many events by international artists. He designed and staged many original orchestral events, including an Event of the Year winner and several world premieres. He served as the cultural director at Union Israelita de Caracas from 2008 to 2019, releasing books, organizing film cycles, concerts, and art exhibits. He has been consistently teaching online and in presence across the U.S. since 2020.

REMBRANDT VAN RIJN AND THE DUTCH GOLDEN AGE
Joseph Cassar

Sessions I & II
Mondays, 11:15 a.m. (begins March 4)
Fee: $140 ($70 for each session)

NOTE: This course will not be recorded

This course will focus on one of the most important artists, Rembrandt. The lectures will focus on his upbringing and art education and a reflection of the cultural milieu in the mid-1600s. Several masterpieces will be studied which cover among other things, his many self-portraits, “The Anatomy Lesson”, “The Night Watch”, and several of his etchings. A special section will be dedicated to his late period which is the climax of his works even though Rembrandt was bankrupt by this time. The course is rich in high resolution images in color which invite questions and discussion.

Joseph Cassar, Ph.D., is an artist, art historian, curator, and educator. He studied at the Accademia di Belle Arti, Pietro Vannucci, Perugia, Italy, the School of Art in Malta (Europe) and at Charles Sturt University in NSW, Australia. Fridays, 1:00 p.m. (begins April 12)
Fee: $70

In this highly interactive course, you will learn the basics of digital photography. We will discuss the #1 solution to the #1 problem in photography and we will have time for students to share their photographs and receive feedback. Students will need a digital camera (DSLR camera). Class size will be limited to 15 students.

POP ART, THEN AND NOW

Michael Salcman

Sessions I
Mondays, 9:30 a.m. (begins March 4)
Fee: $70

Pop Art, the most consequential art movement since Abstract Expressionism, has influenced the development of virtually all subsequent art, the art market, art theory and the culture in general. Pop Art is based on capitalism and commerce, and the return of recognizable content, the use of everyday subjects and objects as opposed to the abstract purity of abstract art. It is the direct antecedent of post-modernism. As in the general format of our previous explorations of Abstract Expressionism and Minimalism, we first examine the progenitors of Pop Art, American representational art like Edward Hopper and Stuart Davis, British pioneers, and the followers of Duchamp: Rauschenberg and Johns. Next, we deal with the kings of pop, Warhol and Lichtenstein, their lifestyle, technical innovations, and influence on art and fashion. We will consider other canonical pop artists: Rosenquist, Wessellman, Oldenburg, and Ruscha. Finally, we look at the aftershocks of Pop Art: the rise of pop-influenced art by Richter and Polke, and contemporaries like Koons, Hirst, and Murakami.

Michael Salcman is the former chairman of neurosurgery at the University of Maryland and president of the Contemporary Museum. He has many published poems and cover essays about art works and artists. His books include The Clock Made of Confetti, Poetry in Medicine, classic and contemporary poems on medicine, A Prague Spring (Sinclair Poetry Prize), Shades & Graces, Daniel Hoffman Legacy Book Prize winner, and Necessary Speech: New & Selected Poems (Spuyten Duyvil in 2022).

THE COMEDY OF IDEAS

William Florman

Sessions I & II
Thursdays, 1:00–4:00 p.m. (begins March 7)
Fee: $140 ($70 for each session)

Woody Allen once remarked that making comedy was like sitting at the children’s table—it lacked the depth of Bergman, Bunuel, or Chekhov. However, the thesis for this course is that comedy can indeed be the vehicle for a serious elaboration of important social, cultural, moral, and political ideas. In this course, we will view and discuss the films “Modern Times”, “Annie Hall”, “Dr. Strangelove”, “The Great Dictator”, “Lost in America”, “Tootsie”, and “Groundhog Day”. These films were chosen for their brilliance, wit, and insightful social commentary.

EIGHT PLAYS EVERYONE SHOULD KNOW, 2024 EDITION

Greg Jones

Sessions I & II
Wednesdays, 1:00 p.m. (begins March 6)
Fee: $140 ($70 for each session)

In the tradition of the popular course entitled Eight Plays Everyone Should Know, this semester features some new titles along with some previously covered plays that deserve to be delved into more deeply: Shakespeare's rousing “Henry V” (new for this course), along with four American classics also new to this course: Mary Chase's comedy “Harvey”, Lillian Hellman's Southern melodrama “The Little Foxes”, William Inge's touching “Come Back Little Sheba”, and Tennessee Williams' erotic classic “Cat on a Hot Tin Roof”. We will also revisit O'Neill’s masterpiece “Long Day’s Journey into Night”, Edward Albee’s psychological classic “Who’s Afraid of Virginia Woolf?”, and Lorraine Hansberry's groundbreaking “A Raisin in the Sun”. Each session will feature a mix of background, clips from performances, lively discussion, and, when possible, live performances of scenes from the plays. No previous experience with this course is needed, but returnees are welcome!

Greg Jones is a local actor, playwright, and teacher. He is currently curating a staged reading series performed at the Classic Theatre of Maryland in Annapolis. His plays include All Save One (Julie Harris playwriting award), Of All the Trees (West Hollywood Pride Fest Award), Dead Air (Dominion Stage Best Play), and The Calling (Alliance of Los Angeles Playwrights Award). He holds a bachelor’s degree in drama (Catholic University) and a master’s degree in English literature (Salisbury University).
Session I
Fridays, 1:00 p.m. (begins March 8)
Fee: $70

There are few actors in the history of film that are as fascinating, as magnetic, and as wildly controversial as Marlon Brando. An award-winning star whose idiosyncratic approach to both his work and his life made him an indelible pop culture icon in his own lifetime, Brando’s career began with unforgettable roles in films like “A Streetcar Named Desire” (1951), “The Wild One” (1953), and “On the Waterfront” (1954). As Vito Corleone in “The Godfather” (1972), Brando served as the patriarch in more ways than one for a defining moment in American entertainment and culture. His later work often fueled his devolution into a cartoonish caricature of himself, but that too may have been at least partly another performance in a lifetime of performances. Actor, activist, eccentric, and legend—this course will examine the many facets of Marlon Brando, from his earliest work to his final days.

Session II
Mondays, 1:00 p.m. (begins April 8)
Fee: $70

In a 1959 interview with Mike Wallace airing ten days before “The Twilight Zone” debuted on CBS, Rod Serling—already a household name with TV viewers and critics—assured Wallace he was just producing television “for entertainment.” But the series he was about to unleash on the world would become one of the most potent statements on humanity ever crafted, with lessons in morality, ethics, race, and so much more that would reach far beyond its artifice of science fiction and horror, and the time in which it aired. Serling’s (justifiably) angry and socio-politically charged writing captured a moment in American history and spoke universally about our greatest aspirations and deepest flaws. Picture, if you will, a course that will examine one man’s career, with stories that became templates for countless imitators, and the power to tell tales that could only exist...in the mind of Rod Serling.

UNCOMMON WISDOM
Ed Fotheringill

Sessions I
Wednesdays, 11:00 a.m. (begins March 6)
Fee: $70

This course will examine some of the fundamental insights of Hindu philosophy which, although cryptic and esoteric, are harbingers of wisdom that may literally change the value of one's life. Passages from the Upanishads and the Bhagavad Gita will be analyzed and discussed, and then evaluated considering the insights of modern science, specifically astronomy and quantum mechanics. Finally, consideration will be given to the wisdom of those Hindu gurus who guide us in how to live a truly meaningful life.

Edward Fotheringill has taught philosophy at the college level for over forty years. He has been an adjunct professor of philosophy at Towson University, Goucher College, and Maryland Institute College of Art. He is an initiated disciple of the Hindu guru, Swami Satchidananda.

THE FILMS OF SIDNEY LUMET
Arnold Blumberg

Session II
Fridays, 1:00 p.m. (begins April 12)
Fee: $70

Director Sidney Lumet brought a healthy distrust of authority, acute awareness of social injustices, and a uniquely Jewish sensibility to all his work, resulting in a career that gave the world powerful, dynamic, socio-politically-relevant dramatic films like “12 Angry Men” (1957), “Fail Safe” (1964), “Dog Day Afternoon” (1975), “Network” (1976), and “The Verdict” (1982). Lumet’s dedication to close collaboration with his cast and cinematographers and his reliance on theater-like rehearsal distinguished him as a powerful creative force and one of the “New Hollywood” wave of more realistic filmmakers that often placed him in the company of directors like Martin Scorsese, Robert Altman, and Francis Ford Coppola. This course will look at the career of Sidney Lumet and the many movies that led to him being dubbed a “master of cinema” and “neorealist” in his depiction of the modern American story on the silver screen.

ARTS, CULTURE & HUMANITIES

THE FITZGERALDS AND THE LOST GENERATION
Jack Burkert

Session I
Thursdays, 11:00 a.m. (begins March 7)
Fee: $70

Examining the personalities of the “lost generation” of the 1920s, this course takes an in-depth look at F. Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald with close attention to some of their writings. Centering first on life in 1920s America, we will then examine the forces that drew them to France. There, the environment, largely nurturing but occasionally toxic, found them in the company of Hemingway, Picasso, Stein, and the American émigrés Gerald and Sara Murphy. These personalities influenced the arts and culture of the Roaring Twenties and beyond.

Jack Burkert is a Baltimore native and a 1969 graduate of the University of Maryland, graduating with honors with a degree in history and education. His working life, some 40+ years, was spent in various educator roles, beginning in the Baltimore City Public School system, then as a staff member at the Pennsylvania State University, through private employers and then until his retirement in his own consulting firm.

THE STORY, HISTORY, AND GEOGRAPHY OF THE BIBLE
Father Robert Albright

Sessions I & II
Thursdays, 11:00 a.m. (begins March 7)
Fee: $140 ($70 for each session)

This course is made for those who have and those who have not taken any Bible classes before. For those who have, it will be a summary that will put everything in perspective. For those who have not, it will be an introduction to studying the Bible. The first four weeks will be spent in the Old Testament or Hebrew Scriptures moving from the Patriarchs through the Post-Exilic period. The second four weeks will be spent in the New Testament moving from Jesus in Paul and the Gospels through early Christianity.

Rev. Robert E. Albright is a retired Catholic priest of the Archdiocese of Baltimore. He served as the Catholic Campus Minister at Towson University for the 26 years before his retirement in July 2006. Through teaching a scholarly approach to the Bible over the past 50 years, Father Bob has explored greater interfaith issues at the Institute for Islamic, Christian, and Jewish Studies of Baltimore. He has studied twice in Israel at the International Center for Holocaust Studies and has been to Israel over 18 times leading study tours and retreats and doing private research in Biblical sites and studying the Palestinian/Israeli situation. Father Bob is engaged in numerous Catholic/Jewish endeavors including a funded program to educate Jewish and Catholic high school students in each other’s tradition.
Sessions I & II
Tuesdays, 1:00 p.m. (begins March 5)
Fee: $140 ($70 for each session)

This course will concentrate on Hemingway’s short stories that are his primary legacy and major contribution to American literature. We will conduct close readings of a string of his most critically acclaimed short stories and will investigate the way that Hemingway revolutionized the modern short story. According to Ernest Hemingway, “all you need to do is write one true sentence. Write the truest sentence that you know.” No one is more responsible for the development of the modern short story than Ernest Hemingway. Hemingway’s fresh and innovative style revolutionized literature. His stripped-down, deceptively simple prose, combined with his Iceberg Theory of writing, created a strikingly new approach to literature. This course will follow the evolutionary arc of Hemingway’s career. Starting with stories such as “Indian Camp” and “Big Two-Hearted River” from his debut collection, “In Our Time”, continuing with a variety of stories such as “Hills Like White Elephants” and “The Killers,” then concluding with posthumously published stories. We will also examine early modernist influences that contributed to Hemingway’s style and his friendships with luminaries such as Gertrude Stein, James Joyce, Sherwood Anderson, and Ezra Pound. All stories covered can be found in “The Complete Short Stories of Ernest Hemingway: The Finca Vigia Edition”.

Robert Jacobs is a Towson University graduate with a BA in English. He traveled to the United Kingdom where he attained an MA in Comparative Literature from the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London. He spent several years in London working as a freelance writer and has contributed to a variety of publications such as: “Time Out London”, The Baltimore Sun’s Metromix, and “The Examiner”. He is an adjunct instructor at the Community College of Baltimore County, Johns Hopkins University, and Montgomery College.
MYTH AND AMERICAN HISTORY
Bob Baer

Sessions I & II
Tuesdays, 11:00 a.m. (begins March 5)
Fee: $140 ($70 for each session)

Societies select and promote information about their past to help people develop a sense of their history and identity. Much of this material is often overly simplified, half-true, excessively biased, or just false. It’s often difficult to separate legend and popular misconceptions from historically accurate information. This course will identify many of the mythic stories of America’s past, explore why these myths became accepted, the role they play, and what historians of today say really happened. It will attempt to assist students to think critically while challenging widespread misunderstandings. It will examine how popular culture, politics and education influence our knowledge of the past. Historical topics will include myths of the country’s founders; the old west; slavery and the Civil War; American wars; and the presidents.

Bob Baer is a college administrator with over forty years in higher education. He has bachelor’s and master’s degrees in history, and a doctorate in higher education. Bob is a history instructor at Community College of Baltimore County, Johns Hopkins University, and Towson University Osher programs, York College-CUNY and Norwalk Community College.

THE REAL REVOLUTION: AMERICA, 1775-1783
Richard Bell

Session II
Fridays, 9:30 a.m. (begins April 19; final class will be May 10)
Fee: $70

“The history of our Revolution will be one continued lie from one end to the other,” wrote John Adams in 1790. “The essence of the whole will be that Dr. Franklin’s electrical rod smote the Earth and out sprang General Washington.” As Adams understood, the real story of the American Revolution is far more than the catalog of deeds done by a handful of famous men. Declaring independence on a piece of parchment on a summer’s day in Philadelphia in 1776 would have meant nothing had not tens of thousands of ordinary Americans been willing to support that cause and fight to make it a reality. People at the time knew this, though too often today we forget. As Joseph Plumb Martin, a private in the Continental Army, later put it: “Great men get praise; little men, nothing.” In this four-part course, University of Maryland historian Richard Bell explores the tumultuous eight years of war between 1775 and 1783. These weekly sessions will examine four of the extraordinary groups of people who played central roles in the war for independence: patriot soldiers, non-combatants on the home front, Black Americans, and white loyalists.

Richard Bell is professor of history at the University of Maryland and author of the book “Stolen: Five Free Boys Kidnapped into Slavery and their Astonishing Odyssey Home” which was a finalist for the George Washington Prize and the Harriet Tubman Prize. He has held major research fellowships at Yale, Cambridge, and the Library of Congress and received the National Endowment of the Humanities Public Scholar award and the 2021 Andrew Carnegie Fellowship. He serves as a trustee of the Maryland Center for History and Culture and as a fellow of the Royal Historical Society.

AMERICA’S CULTURAL REGIONS
John Danz

Sessions I & II
Wednesdays, 9:30 a.m. (begins March 6)
Fee: $140 ($70 for each session)

This course is based on Colin Woodward’s book, “America’s Nations”. The basic premise is that North America is essentially comprised of eleven cultures, each with its own unique historical roots dating back to their founding. While each cultural region continues to hold to distinguishing cultural characteristics, the results can be seen in the composition of national government. For example, New England’s emphasis on the “Greater Good” of the community as rooted in its “Secular Puritanism” requires an individual’s subordination to the community. This area has always sought to build a more perfect society through social engineering. This course includes a history of our fractured country while offering some new insights into our multiple identities. The course will offer a revelatory take on how the conflicts between these cultural identities have shaped our past and are molding our future.

John Danz graduated with a BS in History and Political Science from Virginia Tech with additional studies at The Darden School, UVA and University of Chicago. He was employed in the banking and investment management industry for forty years. He was also an adjunct faculty at Towson University where he taught financial management and small business finance. He served for ten years as board member on the Asian and Arts Cultural Center at TU. John has lectured on American and Maryland history at Osher JHU, Osher at Towson University, Baltimore Heritage Society, Mount Clare Museum, and several Maryland historical societies. He served as director of programs at the Baltimore County Historical Society.

MODERNITY, A SURVEY
John Spears

Sessions I & II
Tuesdays, 11:00 a.m. (begins March 5)
Fee: $140 ($70 for each session)

In the last 250 years the world has seen more changes in the life of humans on this planet than in the past 300,000 years. This course will present a rapid international survey of many of them, including the technical, scientific, artistic, and political. Some of those changes will be familiar, but none of us has been able to pay attention to them all. Discover new stories from near and far, all of them lavishly illustrated in slide presentations, all of them important in shaping both the optimism and pessimism of the current day.

John Spears earned his Ph.D. in European history at Johns Hopkins University in 1978 and spent the last 20 years of his career at Towson University’s Regional Economic Studies Institute. He first taught history for TU’s Osher Lifelong Learning Institute in 2016, and since then has also taught in lifelong learning programs at JHU, George Mason, and Shepherd University.
THE RED SCARE
Bill Barry

Sessions I & II
Thursdays, 1:00 p.m. (begins March 7)
Fee: $140 ($70 for each session)

With all the controversy surrounding the word “woke,” the history of the Red Scare is timely and important. The class will cover the history from 1798, with an emphasis on the McCarthy period, activities in the Baltimore area, and the personal experiences of participants. This course will follow the history of the period and its relation to today’s current events. This course is an expansion of a previous four-week course on the Red Scare offered in fall 2022.

Bill Barry is the retired director of labor studies at CCBC-Dundalk and a regular instructor with Osher at Towson University. He has given lectures and taught courses at Osher on labor history, history, and culture of the 1930s, and the history of slavery.

THE HISTORY OF DEATH
Jennifer Liles

Session II
Wednesdays, 11:00 a.m. (begins April 10)
Fee: $70

Following the History of Sex, we are going to dive into the History of Death. Our rituals, our beliefs, and our relationship to death. Studying the Victorian and Modern eras, we can see how our society was shaped by death and how society shaped our view on death. As Ben Franklin famously quoted, “...but in this world nothing can be said to be certain, except death and taxes.”

Jennifer Liles is a public historian with a degree in public history from Stevenson University. Her research into the history of families uncovered the values that different societies have had toward sex within their cultures and prompted more research into the history and role of sex in society.
MAKEUP MAVENS
Barbara Blumberg Ressin

Session II
Tuesdays, 9:30 a.m. (begins April 9)
Fee: $70

How did today’s billion-dollar makeup business get its start? In this course, you will see the amazing trajectory through the history of cosmetic companies and the people behind them—from Avon, Mary Kay, and Helena Rubenstein to Elizabeth Arden, Estee Lauder, and Charles Revlon.

Barbara Blumberg Ressin is a graduate of Towson University with a B.S. in education. She taught three years in the Baltimore City Public School System, 25 years at the Beth Tfiloh Day school in the secular division, and as adjunct faculty member of the Community College of Baltimore County at both the Owings Mills and Hunt Valley campuses, adjunct faculty member of Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at Towson University, adjunct faculty member of the Renaissance Academy for the Florida Gulf State University, member of Oasis faculty in Montgomery County under auspices of Johns Hopkins University, taught at Food For Thought Lectures, Kaleidoscope at Roland Park School, lectured for The Lecture Group, Western Howard County Senior Center, Friends of the Pikesville Library, North Oaks Retirement Community and various religious and philanthropic groups around the state.

TRAITS OF TRIUMPHANT SURVIVORS
Ann Stearns

Session I
Tuesdays, 9:30 a.m. (begins March 5)
Fee: $70

In this course, Dr. Stearns will describe what her research has shown to be the personal traits, choices, and behaviors commonly shared by resilient people (for whom she coined the term “Triumphant Survivors”). She brings a powerful message of hope to those dealing with the pain of a loss or wanting to support others. Laced with humor and poignancy, her stories describe those she has interviewed or studied and what made them resilient in the face of great challenges. With helpful healing strategies, course participants will discover how resilient people move beyond harsh and painful events to grow stronger and still live fulfilling lives.

Ann Kaiser Stearns, Ph.D., has received awards for “Excellence in Teaching” from Loyola College, Johns Hopkins University, and the Maryland Psychological Association. Retiring recently, after 53 years of fulltime college teaching, she is an Emeritus Professor of behavioral science at the Community College of Baltimore County (CCBC). Dr. Stearns is the author of “Counseling the Grieving Person,” in the textbook, Pastoral Counseling; the best-selling Living Through Personal Crisis (published in seven languages); Coming Back – Rebuilding Lives After Crisis and Loss; Living Through Job Loss; and Redefining Aging (2017). She has lectured widely nationwide and appeared in more than 400 radio and television interviews in the U.S. and Canada. Learn more at www.AnnKaiserStearnsPhD.com.
Session I
COSMIC NEWS
Daniel Golombek

Thursdays, 9:30 a.m. (begins March 7)
Fee: $70
We are living in a remarkable era of astronomical discoveries as we have opened all known windows to observe the cosmos. Many of these findings were so unexpected that they have forced us to reexamine our understanding of the universe. In this course we will learn about the current probes, rovers, helicopters, landers, telescopes, and particle accelerators in operation in the ground and in space and we will examine what we recently learned about planets, moons, stars, galaxies, black holes, the origin of the universe and everything in between. It will be quite an adventure!

Session II
UNQUESTIONABLE ANSWERS AND UNANSWERABLE QUESTIONS
Daniel Golombek

Thursdays, 9:30 a.m. (begins April 11)
Fee: $70
Why is there something rather than nothing? Was there a beginning? Are we alone? Are we just sentient stardust? We’ve been asking these questions since the first humans looked up at the night sky, at the changing seasons, at what was around them. We have learned considerably, we can explain a lot about the universe, about nature and about ourselves. Sometimes we thought we knew the answer to discover that things were not actually like that. We are still asking where we came from, where we are going as a species and as inhabitants of the universe, where nature is evolving and how it works. We have answers for many of these questions but there are still details that need to be understood and difficult questions that we don’t even know how to ask.

Daniel Golombek was responsible for leading the support for pre-and post-observations for the world-wide Hubble Space Telescope community at the Space Telescope Science Institute where he also developed and executed programmatic and scientific plans and budgets for Hubble and the initial stages of the James Webb Space Telescope. During his tenure as a visiting scientist at NASA Headquarters, he was responsible for the management of twelve space science observatories and three major space science grants.
