

Request for Nominations

The Young Alumni Advisory Council for Towson University's College of Business and Economics is seeking passionate young alums of the past 10 years to support the college with their brainpower and advocacy.

We are an active group with projects that take buy in and time to be successful. Because of this, members who have been effective in the group have been self-starters with effective time management and communication skills. New members from all professions aligned with the CBE are welcomed.

If you have a young professional in your network that you think would be a good candidate please contact lbraddick@towson.edu.
