NATURAL WONDERS OF ASSATEAGUE ISLAND
Wednesday, April 4, 12pm - 1pm,
Cook Library Room 507

Mark Hendricks, Conservation Photographer and lecturer in Towson University's Department of Psychology, will give a presentation on his book Natural Wonders of Assateague Island. Hendricks' award-winning work focuses on the diverse habitats of the Chesapeake Bay watershed and Maryland Coastal Bays.

The presentation will give attendees the opportunity to experience the ecosystem of Assateague Island and learn about conservation. Light refreshments will be served.
