GARÍFUNA LANGUAGE RETENTION THROUGH STORY AND SONG

The Afro-Indigenous Garífuna Nation spans the Atlantic coastal regions of Honduras, Guatemala, Nicaragua, and Belize as well as urban centers in the United States. Their language is considered endangered but through the community’s rich tradition of story and song, efforts are underway to revive it.

SABBATICAL TALK BY LEA RAMSDELL
04.03.2019 I 03:30PM I LA 4150