ASSIGNMENTS AND GRADING

A successful completion of a student's internship requires both written assignments (1-3 under Section A), and completed forms (1-5 under Section B). You will be provided with the required forms and templates once the internship is approved for credits.

All materials should be turned in by the due date established at your first meeting with your faculty internship advisor (see the course checklist on p.8). Please contact your faculty internship advisor if you have any questions about any parts of the written assignments or the evaluation forms.

A. Written Assignments

1. JOURNAL REPORT (30%)

Keep a daily journal. Ultimately, use it to write the Reflective Report (see below). In this journal, the student will report:

- the date
- the number of hours on-site, hours off-site, and virtual work hours, if applicable.
- a short description of activities you performed that day.
- a reference to one or more corresponding responsibilities as provided in the job description. If the performed task is not included in the job description, write "other" and explain.

2. REFLECTIVE REPORT (30%) (3-5 pages, double-spaced, excluding the appendix)

It provides the means for you to reflect upon your work experience and assess its relevance, the learning process, and the knowledge of skills that you gain. In the report, the student will:

- describe a "typical" day or the tasks in which the student is involved.
- relate duties performed to prior courses, both in the major and liberal arts (be specific).
- describe new knowledge gained or skills learned.
- explain the portions of the work experience that were most and least valuable.
- relate the total internship experience to the career decision process.

Attached to the report shall be an appendix which will include:

- an organizational chart that highlights the student's position and the position of the student's supervisor.
- a copy or sample of any materials prepared by the student on the job (advertisements, press releases, articles, brochures, flyers, research reports, etc.).
- a professional quality picture of the student on the job.

- Note: Confidential materials should NOT be included.

3. LETTER (5%)

The letter becomes a dialogue between you and future students; and provides a resource of your recommendations to students who may consider the same work experience in the future. In this letter, the intern will indicate:

- courses needed and level of understanding required before applying for the position
- experience gained
- how the intern “fits into the scheme of things.”

B. Forms

1. LEARNING PLAN (10%)

Create your learning plan together with your supervisor after completing 2-3 weeks of internship. The time will allow you to become familiar with various learning opportunities within the organization. The learning objectives and tasks must closely follow the job descriptions as approved. Any significant deviations from the job description must be discussed with and approved by the faculty internship adviser in advance. Submit the learning plan to your faculty internship adviser after it is signed by your supervisor.

2. MID-SEMESTER EVALUATION FORM (10%)

Please ask your supervisor to fill out a mid-semester evaluation form after you complete approximately half of the total internship hours. Submit the signed evaluation to your faculty internship adviser. The faculty internship adviser may seek additional feedback from the internship supervisor.

3. FINAL EVALUATION FORM (10%)

Please ask your supervisor to fill out a final evaluation form at the conclusion of your internship. Include it in the final internship packet. The faculty internship adviser may seek additional feedback from the internship supervisor.

4. WORK HOURS LOG (5%)

Record all internship hours and have the form signed by your supervisor. Include it in the final internship packet.

5. STUDENT EVALUATION FORM

Provide your own evaluation of the internship experience. Include it in the final internship packet.

GRADING CRITERIA

This course is graded on an S/U scale:

- Successful: Student submits all assignments and evaluation forms, and earns 70% or more from the graded works.
- Unsuccessful: Student fails to submit assignments and evaluation forms or earns less than 70% from the graded work.

MEMORANDUM

TO: All Students in the Department of Mass Communication
FROM: Department Faculty
SUBJECT: ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Cheating

The Department of Mass Communication has adopted the following policy regarding cheating: Any student caught cheating on any quiz or exam will receive an "F: on the quiz or test, and a possible "F" for the course.

Plagiarism & Fabrication

Plagiarism is passing off someone else's writing as your own, such as (but not limited to) 1) paraphrasing a source too closely without attribution, 2) using a news reporting interview done by another student for your assignment, or 3) using quotes from a news story published elsewhere in your news story.

The Department of Mass Communication maintains the following policy in both written assignments and oral presentations:

1. All assignments and presentations must be the student's own work. No part of an assignment, presentation or citation may be fabricated or falsified. The use of assignments and presentations authored by others—even with their consent—constitutes plagiarism unless such authorship is made known to the instructor.
2. Reusing your own work without acknowledgment is considered self-plagiarism. Assignments may not be re-used for multiple classes.
3. Passing off materials generated by artificial intelligence (AI) technology constitutes plagiarism. AI technology and other assistance tools should only be used if approved by the instructor. All authorized use of such technologies must be properly cited (see below).
4. Any words quoted directly from a source must be in quotation marks and properly cited. Any images taken from a source must also be properly cited.
5. Any paraphrasing or rephrasing of the words and/or ideas within a source must be properly cited.
6. There are ambiguities in the concepts of plagiarism. Each instructor shall be available for consultation regarding any confusion a student may have.

Any student found plagiarizing in any of the above ways will receive an automatic "F" for the assignment and may receive an "F" for the course. Any student discovered soliciting others to write a paper, speech, test, or other assignments for them will receive an automatic "F" for the course. |

In compliance with Towson University's Student Academic Integrity Policy, documented evidence of plagiarism will be reported to the Office of Student Accountability & Restorative Practices, and a copy will be kept in the department.

Avoiding plagiarism

Most students are careful to avoid blatant plagiarism, which can be defined as the unacknowledged copying of exact words of a source. However, students must also be aware that the concept of plagiarism extends not only to wording but to patterns or sequences of ideas. If you paraphrase a section from a book and use the same sequence or structure without acknowledging the original author, then you are plagiarizing.

Here are a few best practices to help you avoid plagiarism:

- Give yourself plenty of time to finish your assignment. Some students in the past have said they accidentally plagiarized because they were working too quickly.
- If you cut and paste content into a document, immediately place it in quotation marks and attribute it to the source. This will help you avoid accidental plagiarism, which has the same consequences as purposeful plagiarism. Your workflow should be:
 1. Open quote
 2. Paste the text
 3. Close the quote
 4. Add the citation.
- Remember that all types of content should be quoted and cited if you are using an exact phrase. Some students in the past have said they didn't realize words copied from an instructor's PowerPoint, or copying text from a dictionary definition would be considered plagiarism. If you didn't write it, put it in quotation marks and cite it.
- Remember: When you quote and cite a credible source, you add credibility to your work.

Citing material from generative AI

If your professor has directed you to use generative AI for an assignment, then you must cite your source and explain how you used it. According to the APA, authors who use generative AI like ChatGPT should devote a paragraph or section of their paper to describe how the tool was used. The APA also recommends that authors provide the prompt they used in the AI tool and the corresponding response. AI-generated material should be cited in the text of the assignment with a corresponding entry in the reference list. For example, in the case of ChatGPT, the in-text, author-algorithm would be as follows: (OpenAI, 2023). The Reference List citation would be as follows: OpenAI. (2023) ChatGPT-3.5 (Date text generated) [Large language model]. Students should also provide a link to the generative AI tool used.
