

School of Emerging Technologies
Seed Funding Request

Instructions:

Submit this cover sheet to Andrea Chenowith (achenowith@towson.edu) in the School of Emerging Technologies no later than March 1, together with:

- Project Narrative This should be no more than five pages, single spaced in a 12 point font with 1" margins. The narrative should clearly describe the proposed research project, its significance, and its relationship to emerging technologies. It should explain the roles of the different members of the project team and clearly explain how the project will continue beyond the initially supported year, including a plan describing how the project will become self-supported through external funding.
- List of References
- Budget and Budget Narrative This should describe how the funds will be used. If equipment or supplies are to be purchased, then the narrative should provide an itemized list.
- Curriculum Vitae for each faculty member or external principal on the project. Faculty should include their history of external grant proposals.

Project Title: _____

Total Funds Requested: _____

Faculty Signatures:

By signing, you assert that you are ready and willing to perform the proposed project in compliance with all applicable university rules and guidelines, and that you have discussed this project with your department chair.

Faculty Member: _____ Date: _____

Faculty Member: _____ Date: _____

Faculty Member: _____ Date: _____

Chairperson Signatures:

By signing, you assert that you are aware of the proposed project, the faculty commitment, and any included departmental obligations.

Department Chair: _____ Date: _____

Department Chair: _____ Date: _____

Department Chair: _____ Date: _____

Dean Signatures:

By signing, you assert that you are aware of the proposed project, the faculty commitment, and any included departmental obligations.

College Dean : _____ Date: _____

College Dean : _____ Date: _____

College Dean : _____ Date: _____