The Office of Inclusion & Institutional Equity (Title IX Coordinator) recommends the following statements to be added to applications. These statements clearly state your role as a responsible employee required to report disclosures of sexual misconduct and provide guidance to students on TU support resources.

What if I disclose sexual misconduct or child abuse/neglect in my application?

Title IX requires that disclosures of sexual misconduct to any University Responsible Employee be reported to the Title IX Coordinator. The Title IX Coordinator’s office will reach out to provide resources and information. More information can be found http://www.towson.edu/titleix

Maryland law requires that disclosures of child abuse or neglect be reported to our Towson University Police Department. More information on the process and procedures can be found https://www.towson.edu/publicsafety/prevention/abuse/
