Exhibition | SIKH: Turban and Identity
12:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m., University Union, Center for Student Diversity
The Sikh faith, known as Sikhism, was founded just over 500 years ago in the Punjab region of South Asia. There are more than 25 million Sikhs around the world, which makes Sikhism the world’s fifth largest religion. The turban is an integral part of the Sikh identity. Historically, the turban was worn by royalty and the rich in South Asia. The turban, as an article of faith in Sikhism, is a public declaration of sovereignty and equality of all people. Not only beautiful, the turban represents distinction, tolerance and justice. Sikhs have been a vital part of the American fabric for over 125 years. This exhibit is a celebration of this identity and the Sikh American experience.

Faculty Lecture - Fake News: Separating Fact from Fiction
11:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m., West Village Commons, Room 305
Joyce Ganczynski, Assistant University Librarian for Development & Communications. In a world where information flies at the speed of social media and opinions can masquerade as evidence, how can someone separate fact from fiction? Turns out, it can be really hard to do. A recent multinational survey found that almost 60 percent of respondents said that they have a difficult time determining whether news was true or not. In this session, we’ll explore why fake news is so hard to figure out by looking at the history of misinformation, efforts to stop its spread, and what you can do to get to the truth. https://towsonuniversityfamilyweekend2018.eventbrite.com
